About Mission Viejo

Mission Viejo is a master-planned community in south Orange County, California located about halfway between Los Angeles and San Diego.

The City's master plan, approved by the County of Orange in 1965, laid the foundation for the innovative development of a community with a variety of housing opportunities designed to meet the needs of a broad range of new home buyers. The master plan calls for 52 percent of the land to be devoted to residential uses, 29 percent to parks, open space and recreation, 10 percent to schools and churches, and 9 percent to business properties.

Mission Viejo is consistently ranked the safest city in California. It is a family-oriented community with outstanding schools, a regional trauma center, first-rate sports programs, a state-of-the-art library and growing cultural arts programs.
